Wang Says Tactics Aided China Reds

Superiority of Communist tactics and lack of understanding of China by the United States contributed to China's fall to communism according to the Reverend John B. Wang, assistant professor of foreign languages, in a "Conflux" meeting in the Latter-day Saints Institute last night.

The Communists were also aided by the Russians who gave China 15,000 rifles in 1924. Before that there was the period of cooperation from 1900 to 1924. After they received the Russian aid, the Chinese students overthrew the ruling Ching Dynasty.

The political party, Kuamintang, wanted to make China a modern nation. "Kuamintang sought help from France and Europe. There was none. In 1923 Chiang Kai-shek went to Russia to ask for aid," said Father Wang.

In 1945 Lin-pio, now the defense minister of China, went to Manchuria to ask aid from Russia. Russia supplied 300,000 rifles and 138,000 machine guns.

"Another reason for the communist takeover was the lack of cooperation among members of the Nationalist Army. They did not unite and fight. The troops had no food or ammunition, so Chiang Kai-shek disbanded them and they marched home and became communists," Father Wang said.

Father Wang said America did not understand the real nature of communism. American Generals Joseph Stilwell and Albert C. Wedemeyer tried to force China to abide by their rules, he said.

As America began to know the real nature of communism, plans were made to give thousands of American soldiers to aid China and train the Chinese army, he said.

"This was an expensive proposal," Father Wang said, "but it was less expensive than losing China." It was rejected.

General war broke out in 1946, Father Wang said. America blamed Chiang Kai-shek and ordered that no aid be given to China.

In 1948 Father Wang left his homeland and flew to Hong Kong. "All the cities were falling to communism at this time," Father Wang said, "and by the end of 1949 communism spread all over China."

Prior to this time, during the period which Father Wang calls "the split and fight of 1925-1937," a declaration was made to expel all communists from the political party. "In 1935," said Father Wang, "the Nationalists' overpowered the Communists."

Father Wang said that during the 1937-1945, "period of expansion," when Japan started war, the Nationalists gave up striving for complete Communist wipeout and began fighting Japan. "During this time," Father Wang said, "Russia became friends with China."

It took only eight years for communism to overtake China, Father Wang said. "Communism was different than it is today. There is more freedom. Russia itself, from the time of Stalin to the present has changed its ideas on communism. Today American movies are shown, jazz is played and most important, America and Russia can make agreements," he said.

Trucks May Clear Snow

The heaps of snow on campus may be removed by truck, according to J. A. Parker, director of the Physical Plant.

"If we have another snowfall of six inches before the temperature rises, we will begin to move it to make room," Mr. Parker said.

There is no separate budget set aside for snow removal, so the six-man labor crew from the Physical Plant improvises to meet the snowfall problem, Mr. Parker explained. "This is the worst winter we've had this early for 20 years," he said.

As a part of the Physical Plant's security operation, there is always at least one security officer moving about the campus. When an officer decides there is enough snow to constitute a problem, he sends word to the Physical Plant and the crew is sent out.

The crew worked last Saturday and will keep working on week-ends as required to keep roads and walks cleared, Mr. Parker said.

In addition to the six men, one grader with a snow blade, two jeeps with snow blades or rotary brooms and an end loading machine are available to move the snow.

The plows can't fight pedestrians and cars, so when traffic becomes too heavy, the plowing must stop, Mr. Parker said.

Sign-Out Forms Mailed to Parents

Sign-out slips are being sent to UM coeds' parents to put responsibility for a woman's actions with her parents and not the school, said Margaret Borg, AWS president, during a meeting yesterday afternoon.

The procedure was started this summer on a "totally experimental basis" and therefore could be changed or abolished, Miss Borg said. A decision of whether to change the present system will be reached at next Monday's meeting.

AWS representatives have been canvassing the area between Keith and Beckwith Avenues from Higgins to Arthur and Maurice Avenues to get homeowners' signatures on petitions for better lighting on the streets. At present, only four petitions have been turned in, but the representatives reported that the homeowners' response is generally favorable.

Charges Against Students Dropped

Charges of duplicating U. S. currency filed Dec. 5 against three UM students were dismissed yesterday by Justice of the Peace J. E. Brodie. County Atty. Jack Pinsoneault, who introduced the motion for dismissal, said the charges were dropped because the U. S. Treasury Dept. refused to take the case.

The three students are David Moore, 314 Connell Ave.; Judith Parker, 439 University Ave., and Pete A. Effenberger, 1222 Lincoln Ave. The three were arrested Dec. 4 on University Avenue.

Transplant Patient Is Critical After Second U.S. Operation

STANFORD, Calif. (AP)—Mike Kasperak's condition became critical yesterday—the second day after his failing heart was replaced by another—but doctors managed to halt internal bleeding that threatened his life.

They said his new heart appeared to be functioning "very well." Kasperak was the first adult in America to receive a heart transplant.

Doctors at Palo Alto-Stanford Medical Center said Kasperak was conscious. The bleeding from stomach and intestines two days after the operation stemmed from liver disease, they said.

They said the many complications suffered by the 54-year-old steelworker were "severe but solvable." He had been reported in satisfactory condition earlier in the day despite expected difficulty in breathing.

Kasperak's condition became critical when the bleeding began. Fresh blood transfusions and other measures apparently stopped the bleeding, attending physicians said in a midafternoon bulletin.

Earlier, doctors said Kasperak had catnapped through the night and was communicating to nurses who read his lip movements. He was unable to talk because a tube had been inserted in his throat to help him breathe.

Dr. Norman E. Shumway and a team of Stanford Medical School performed the transplantation Saturday night. They gave Kasperak the heart of a 43-year-old housewife.

The housewife, Mrs. Virginia White, had died about 24 hours after suffering a massive brain hemorrhage, a stroke.

Third Heart Case Appears Success

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP)—Dr. Christian N. Barnard said yesterday that heart transplant patient Dr. Philip Blaiberg may be sent home "in another two weeks if he continues to do as well as he is doing now."

Barnard said he was very happy with the condition of the 58-year-old retired dentist who became the world's third human recipient of someone else's heart Jan. 2.

Groote Schuur Hospital said Blaiberg is no longer in an oxygen tent and there were no signs his body was trying to reject the heart of Clive Haupt, 24, who died of a stroke. But he was nearing what doctors consider a critical post-operative period, when his body might show signs of trying to reject the alien tissue.

Barnard said cobalt treatment probably will not be used on Blaiberg to combat rejection.

Today Deadline To Add Courses

Today is the last day for students to add courses, according to Leo Smith, registrar.

Mr. Smith said students dropping and adding courses are required to pay a $2 fee. He said the payment went into effect last Friday and continues through today.

Forms for the procedure may be picked up at window five in the Registrar's Office. Students are required to obtain the signatures of the instructors of the courses they are changing and their adviser's signature. The forms must be returned to the Registrar's office by 4 p.m.

The deadline for dropping courses is Jan. 23.

Date Set for Cassius' Appeal

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Arguments on former heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay's appeal of his conviction on a charge of refusing to be drafted were scheduled yesterday to begin Feb. 19 at Houston.

Clay has been free under $15,000 appeal bond. He received the maximum sentence of five years in prison and $10,000 fine upon his conviction June 20.

Montanan Dies in War

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army 1st Lt. James F. Fuhrman of Larston, Mont., was the 78th Montanan to die in the Vietnam War, the Defense Department said yesterday.

Fuhrman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earle E. Fuhrman, was reported killed in action.

Powell Back in U.S.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Adam Clayton Powell broke his long, self-imposed exile Monday and headed for California where he promised to walk the streets of Watts in Los Angeles.

The dapper Harlem Democrat said he was en route to the West Coast for a visit to Watts and a speaking tour of California colleges and universities.

Powell, 59, began his long stay on Bimini, 60 miles off the Florida east coast, after a warrant was issued for his arrest in the fall of 1966 on criminal contempt charges stemming from a libel judgment he had refused to pay. Powell was ousted from Congress by his colleagues for misusing government funds.

Snow Predicted

The Weather Bureau is forecasting cloudy today with snow this afternoon. Snow flurries are predicted for tomorrow.

The high today will be 20 degrees. The chance of snow is 70 per cent today and tonight.

We Blew It

We blew it.

The editorial in the Friday Kaimin was inadvertently erroneous. It was based on information we thought reliable but was intended facetiously.

For a moment, our wishes for a better University of Montana and MSU got in the way of skepticism that always better serves us. The result was inexcusable inaccuracy.

For our failure in our responsibility to every Kaimin reader to print only opinion based on fact, we are deeply sorry.

But, as MSU Pres. Leon Johnson told us in a phone call yesterday, the dreams of accepting students as responsible citizens of the academic community, of greater student participation in the planning of curriculum and betterment of living conditions for University women need not remain so. All are ideals worth the effort to make them reality.

McCarthy Is Right

Sen. Eugene McCarthy was being a bit conservative in a New York speech Saturday when he said some American politicians are not speaking their minds on the Vietnam issue.

"There are some Americans," he said, "including some at the highest levels of government and politics, who have not yet spoken as their minds and consciences dictate."

"In some cases, they have not done so for reasons of personal or political convenience," he said. "There are a few, I suspect, who were waiting for a kind of latter-day salvation. Four years is too long to wait."

The term "some Americans," in this case, is subject to the broadest interpretation.

We have seen evidence of some or all of the syndromes discussed by Sen. McCarthy in our own Sen. Lee Metcalf.

Although he has expressed his firm opposition to the war in Vietnam privately, it was only under extreme pressure at a University panel discussion last spring that he said he would find it hard not to vote for a peace candidate, even if the candidate was not of his own party.

Also, in his usual fluent federalese, he made remarks to the effect that he could not express his views publicly until enough support was raised to make the issue politically profitable.

This is probably why he has remained silent in the face of McCarthy's candidacy.

He campaigned on a promise that he would do everything in his power to prevent further escalation of the Vietnam War, yet to date he has voted for every supplemental appropriation that aids in such escalation.

It is frightening to wonder how many other leaders who have remained silent or outwardly neutral feel as he does yet do not speak out because of what "people might think."

Supposedly we elect the most honest, selfless men from our ranks to represent us in Washington. If they do not speak as their hearts and consciences dictate, if they do not stand behind what they think is in the best interests of their fellow countrymen, who will?

The time for petty worry over personal or political fortunes has passed. The elected interests of their fellow countrymen, who but are afraid to make them known to the world are worse than the men who cannot or do not.

Andy Jackson Gets 'Stuck With Texas'

By ARTHUR HOPPE
Syndicated Columnist

Good morning, children. It's time for another Little Unlearned Lesson of History. I'll tell the story and let's see who can guess the little lesson it didn't teach us.

Let's see. What about the time Texas fought a civil war with Mexico?

Well, as you remember, class, it was in 1835. Americans had settled in an area of Mexico known as Texas. But they didn't like their Mexican Government because it was corrupt and undemocratic. And they didn't like their Mexican President, General Santa Ana, because he had taken power in a coup and he was a dictator.

So they formed a National Liberation Front and began waging guerrilla warfare.

Naturally, our President in Washington, Andrew Jackson, was very concerned. And he called a meeting of the National Security Council.

"Look-ee here, fellers," said President Jackson (all Presidents talk alike), "there's a civil war broke out down in Mexico and these here wild-eyed revolutionaries are only across the Red River from our shores."

"I know you'll do the right thing, chief, because you have extra glands," said Vice President Martin Van Buren with a smile. (All Vice Presidents talk alike, too.)

"Then I did say to that General Santa Whatshisname feller," said the President, "that if there was anything I could do for him, I'd be glad to oblige. And I sure do want to honor my sacred commitments. So's I think I'll send him a couple of thousand military advisers to help him defend this bastion of democracy which is the key to Southwest America."

But the Secretary of State spoke up. "That's a stupid idea, sir," he said, (which shows that all Secretaries of State don't talk alike.) "This Mexican Government is corrupt and unstable and doesn't command the loyalty of the people. This Santa Ana is a two-bit dictator who could get tossed out any moment and he'll make a lousy ally."

And the Secretary of Defense (they don't all talk alike, either) said, "It's absolutely idiotic to get bogged down for years and years in a land war in Mexico. Santa Ana will never wipe out these guerrillas. If you want to get into it, why don't you get into it on the winning side?"

"The winning side, eh?" said the President thoughtfully. "This Administration sure could use a victory."

And that's why, children, we infiltrated men and supplies down the Andy Jackson Trail to the National Liberation Front in Texas.

As you know, with our help, they won their civil war in six months and eventually joined the Union as our 28th State. Now then, class, what's the Little Lesson of History that we didn't learn from this?

The last time we stuck our nose into somebody's else's civil war, we got stuck with Texas.

Cogswell Says Kaimin 'Jumped the Gun' Over 'Moo U Gains a Lead' Editorial

To the Kaimin:

I think you "jumped the gun" in your editorial "Moo U Gains a Lead" on the asserted changes in residence halls and on-campus living regulations at Montana State University in Bozeman.

The Dean of Students office there advises me that the regulation requiring both freshman and sophomore men to live in residence halls is still in effect as is the 21-year-old rule for women. The check-in hours for women are slightly less liberal than ours, there is no "key system" in operation, they have no "no-hours" dormitory yet, in fact there have been no changes in any of their regulations.

However, following in our footsteps, they have asked AWS to do what ours already has done and, I hope, will continue to do: make any recommendations for changes they see fit. I suspect the first thing their AWS will recommend is a "no-hours" dormitory.

Sincerely yours,

ANDREW C. COGSWELL
Dean of Students

Hayes Otoupalik Says American Foreign Policy Is Wrong

To the Kaimin:

A U.S. bomber sights in on a nest of Vietcong, dives for the kill, and whomp! is the last sound the American pilot hears. That day he is listed as killed in action by a Russian-built surface-to-air missile. Some hours before or after this tragedy, the U.S. signs a U.S.-Soviet Cultural Exchange Agreement whereby Russian scientists will be allowed to come to the U.S. to gather technical information on our gas industry, high voltage electrical transmission, water treatment, weather modification and cloud physics, civil aviation, agricultural machinery, chemical fibers, metallurgy and communication. The latter is a shining dandy: as U.S. bombers drone over the shores of Guam, headed for destruction of the Vietcong military machine, a Russian submarine "communicates" that all Vietcong should go underground or disperse.

Yes, while American infantrymen and Marines were dying from Russian made bullets, fired from Russian made rifles, Pres. Johnson issued an Executive Order, October 12, 1966, which authorized the Department of Commerce to allow the export of American goods to Russia—goods which included hospital equipment, drugs, surgical dressings, aircraft engines, electronic and aircraft control equipment, industrial machinery, crude oil, rubber goods, marine parts, and on and on.

These goods converted into war supplies, or which ease the burden on the Russian "war" machine so that they can manufacture materials of war, has helped and is now helping the Vietcong main and kill American fighting men.

Therefore, I believe, as do many millions of Americans, the time has come for America to demand, rather than request, a reversal of these policies.

Our United States Constitution states that: "Giving aid and comfort to the enemy is treason." Article III, Sec. 3.

As a God-fearing American, I cannot tolerate the injustices being perpetrated by the President and his administration, against our American servicemen who are again being compelled, as in Korea, to fight and die in a no-win war. It is the administration collaborating with the International Bankers, and the International Industrialists, aided by pseudo-intellectuals and the liberal press, who are selling out America to the Communists!

Therefore, I demand, in the name of justice, only one thing—total victory over communism.

One final question. What do you think of Americans who are willing to line their pockets with "red Judas gold" made from the "life-blood of American servicemen?"

SENIOR RICK JOHNSTON IS TIP PLAYMAKER—A transfer from New Mexico Military Institute last season, Johnston scored 10 points a game to rank fourth on the team. Johnston hit 42 per cent of his field goal attempts and 64 per cent of his free throws. This season the 6-0 guard from Albuquerque, N.M., has scored at a 8.6 clip per game. Johnston is the shortest player on the Montana team, but Grizzly coaches think that he makes up for his height disadvantage with quickness, driving ability and good outside shooting.

Bengals Defeat Tips 85-69

By CHUCK JOHNSON
Sports Reporter

Idaho State broke a tight game wide open in the second half and defeated Montana's Grizzlies 85-69 in Pocatello last night.

The Bengals, leading 40-36 at halftime, outscored the Tips 45-33 in the second half.

The Bengals' high scoring duo of Ron Boone and Charlie Parks, both all-conference players last season, poured in 44 points to lead Idaho State to its third Big Sky victory without a loss. Parks tallied 26 points and Boone scored 18. The much taller Idaho State front line dominated the backboards.

Rick Johnston, Ron Moore, and Steve Brown led the Montana attack with 13 points each. The Grizzlies are now 1-2 in conference action.

The Grizzlies led early in the first half, but Idaho State captured the lead shortly after Montana center Don Parsons left the game with three fouls. Capitalizing on Bengal turnovers, Montana tied the game at 21-21. The Grizzlies regained the lead, holding a 26-21 advantage with 9:30 left. With Boone and Parks hitting, Idaho State took a 40-36 lead to the dressing room at halftime. The Bengals outrebounded Montana 35-19 in the first half.

Parsons narrowed the lead to 40-38 but was soon called for his fourth foul. From that point on, the Bengals gradually increased their lead. Stubborn Montana stayed close, trailing by from 6-8 points for the first 10 minutes of the half. With 5:57 remaining, Parsons fouled out, and Idaho State began to fast break. During one stretch, the Bengals outscored the Tips 13-3. Idaho State widened the lead to 18 points at one point.

Final statistics showed the Bengals outshooting the Grizzlies 53 per cent to 41 per cent. Montana made 53 per cent of its free throws while Idaho State converted 48 per cent. The decisive statistic was rebounding, where the Bengals showed a 65-43 edge. Ed Wilson, averaging 22 rebounds a game, hauled down 20 rebounds against the Tips.

Friday Montana pulled off the first upset of the Big Sky race, downing Weber 74-67 in Ogden, Utah. The victory was the Grizzlies' first at Weber, which is usually a death-trap for visiting teams.

Ron Moore, playing forward for the first time, rattled the Wildcat defense for 36 points, including 12 free throws in 14 attempts.

Montana's deliberate offense and sticky defense negated Weber's fast break.

Weber led in the first half, but the Grizzlies grabbed the lead and maintained it.

The Tips, paced by Moore's 19 points, led at the intermission 38-32.

Weber gradually narrowed the margin and trailed 57-56 with about four minutes remaining. The Grizzlies widened the gap while they stalled. Weber was forced to foul, and Montana converted the free throws.

Montana center Don Parsons was outstanding on the boards all night. Dan Sparks, Weber's 6-8 center, led the Wildcats with 16 points and 16 rebounds.

Although Weber outrebounded the Grizzlies 48-40, Montana led in field goals, hitting 47 per cent. Weber mustered only 33 per cent from the field.

Aroused after Friday's loss, Weber came back Saturday to dump the Grizzlies 75-51.

At half time Weber led 28-27 as neither club could find the range.

The Wildcats completely baffled a cold Montana team the second half with a tight zone defense, outscoring the Tips 47-24.

Moore, bothered with the flu, led the Grizzly attack with 14 points, 12 of them coming in the first half. Parsons finished with 10 points.

The Wildcats, fast breaking in the second half, had five men in double figures, led by Sparks and Monte VreNon with 13 points.

1968: ITS CAUSE AND CURE

Are you still writing "1967" on your papers and letters? I'll bet you are, you scamp! But I am not one to be harsh with those who forgot we are in a new year, for I myself have long been guilty of the same lapse. In fact, in my senior year at college, I wrote 1873 on my papers until nearly November of 1874! (It turned out, incidentally, not to be such a serious error because, as we all know, 1874 was later repealed by President Chester A. Arthur in a fit of pique over the Black Tom Explosion. And, as we all know, Mr. Arthur later came to regret his hasty action. Who does not recall that famous meeting between Mr. Arthur and Louis Napoleon when Mr. Arthur said, "Lou, I wish I hadn't of repealed 1874." Whereupon the French emperor made his immortal rejoinder, "Tipi que nous et tyler tu". Well sir, they had many a good laugh about that, as you can imagine.)

But I digress. How can we remember to write 1968 on our papers and letters? Well sir, the best way is to find something memorable about 1968, something unique to fix it firmly in your mind. Happily, this is very simple because, as we all know, 1968 is the first year in history that is divisible by 2, by 5, and by 7. Take a pencil and try it: 1968 divided by 2 is 984; 1968 divided by 5 is 393.6; 1968 divided by 7 is 281.14. This mathematical curiosity will not occur again until the year 2079, but we will all be so busy then celebrating the Chester A. Arthur bi-centenary that we will scarcely have time to be writing papers and letters and like that.

Another clever little trick to fix the year 1968 in your mind is to remember that 1968 spelled backwards is 8691. "Year" spelled backwards is "raey" "Personna" spelled backwards is "Annosrep." I mention Personna because I am paid to write this column by the makers of Personna Super Stainless Steel Blades, and they are inclined to withhold my check if I omit to mention their product.

Not, mind you, that it is any chore for me to sing the praises of Personna, for it is a seemingly blade that shaves you cleanly, a gleaming blade that leaves you beaming, a trouble-free blade that leaves you stubble-free, a matchless blade that leaves you scratchless. If you are tired of facial slump, if you are fed up with jowl blight, try Personna today... available both in double-edge style and Injector style. And if I seem a bit excessive in my admiration for Personna, I ask you to remember that to me Personna is more than a razor blade; it is also an employer.

But I digress. We were speaking of the memorable aspects of 1968 and high among them, of course, is the fact that in 1968 the entire House of Representatives stands for election. There will, no doubt, be many lively and interesting contests, but none, I'll wager, quite so lively and interesting as the one in my own district where the leading candidate is none other than Chester A. Arthur!

Mr. Arthur, incidentally, is not the first ex-president to come out of retirement and run for the House of Representatives. John Quincy Adams was the first. Mr. Adams also holds another distinction: he was the first son of a president ever to serve as president. It is true that Martin Van Buren's son, Walter "Blinky" Van Buren, was at one time offered the nomination for the presidency, but he, alas, had already accepted a bid to become Mad Ludwig of Bavaria. James K. Polk's son, on the other hand, became Salmon P. Chase. Millard Fillmore's son went into aluminum siding. This later became known as the Missouri Compromise.

In Missouri, or anywhere else, there is no compromise with quality in Personna or in Personna's partner in shaving pleasure—Burma-Shave. Burma-Shave comes to you in regular or menthol. Try it. You'll find it soaks rings around any other lather.

• The Hellgate Flying Club meets tonight at 7 p.m. in Territorial Room 2. A Federal Aviation Agency color film on in-flight cockpit scenes of a jetliner will be shown.

• Captain James Sparks will be in the Lodge between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. today and tomorrow to select students for officer training in the U.S. Marine Corps.

• The effect of forest resources on Montana's economy will be discussed by Arnold Bolle, dean of the forestry school, at the International Forestry Seminar Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in Forestry 201.

The one-credit seminar was started spring quarter, 1964, by a group of students, including several from foreign countries, for the study of forestry problems of the world. Visitors are welcome to attend the seminar sessions.

• Dennis Bugge of Sigma Chi was recently elected president of Interfraternity Council for 1968.

Scott Wheeler of Sigma Nu is vice president, Paul Dallmann of Alpha Tau Omega was elected secretary and Joe Mazurek of Phi Delta Theta is the new treasurer.

At a meeting last Thursday night, IFC granted Beta Theta Pi's request to colonize on the UM campus. The national social fraternity is expected to organize here spring quarter.

Informal winter rush will begin Jan. 13 and formal rush will be the weekend of Jan. 27-28, according to Wheeler, IFC rush chairman.

Dr. Robert Curry, director of the Student Health Service, said yesterday that students especially susceptible to virus infection should visit the Health Service to receive a flu shot.

Dr. Curry said that although it is a little late to take the series of two shots administered three months apart, one shot might prevent a serious case of flu.

Jubilee Tryouts Slated This Week

Auditions for membership into Jubileers will be conducted this week, Joseph Mussulman, UM associate professor of music, announced yesterday.

Mr. Mussulman said that five members have indicated they will be leaving the group. Other positions may be open after the remaining members complete registration, he said. Those members leaving the group are Dennis Burns, Susan Burns, Gary Guthrie, Diane Morrow and Ruth Silvius.

The positions are open to all UM students. The auditions for all sections will be private and by appointment only. Appointments can be made at the music office window.

The Jubileers returned home Friday from a two-month tour of the Orient. The troupe entertained servicemen in hospitals, on bases, and for outlying military posts.

The group has performances scheduled at the Missoula Elks Club Friday and Saturday night. They travel to Butte, Saturday, January 20, to perform for the Annual Kiwanis Club Dinner Dance.

Stamp Problems Vex Lodge Desk

With the new postal rates in effect, 10,000 one cent stamps already have been sold at the Lodge desk, attendants reported yesterday.

One cent stamps cannot be purchased individually at the Lodge desk, but envelopes and books of stamps with the proper amount of postage still are available. A new supply of one-cent stamps is expected tomorrow.

Regular six-cent and 10-cent stamps will not be available until January 29.

Radiation Effects to Be Subject Of Summer Conference at UM

The effects of nuclear and space radiation will be the topic of the fifth annual conference of the Institute of Electronics Engineers to be held July 15-18 here at UM, said Tom Collins, UM public services director.

The conference sessions on nuclear and space radiation effects will cover areas of theoretical and experimental effects on materials, components, circuits and systems. These include investigation of the electrical and mechanical properties of irradiated solids, and displacement and ionization effects in electronic parts.

Other topics are combined environments, measuring doses of x-rays or of radioactivity, large dose effects and methods of evaluation, predicting and presenting radiation effects data.

Mansfield First Series Speaker

Sen. Mike Mansfield has agreed to give the first in a series of lectures entitled the "Mike Mansfield Lectures on International Relations" on March 29, said UM Pres. Robert Pantzer.

The lecture program's purpose is to sponsor an authority to speak on international relations, to honor Mr. Mansfield, the Senate majority leader, and commemorate the 75th anniversary of the University of Montana.

An endowment fund of $124,000 has been gathered to support the lecture series.
